

ACT ONE
INT.KJAMS SALES DEPT.ALBERT'S OFFICE –MORNING

Clark Mills, mid-20s, is being interviewed, wearing his best suit. He's nervous. The interviewer, Albert wimbly, mid-40s, peruses his resume.

ALBERT

Interesting font choice.

CLARK

Oh, thanks, wasn't an easy decision, I kept going back and forth between Garamond and Britannic Bold.

ALBERT

Fascinating Tale.

(then) Tell me on of your negative qualities, Clark.

CLARK

(as if rehearsed) One of my negatives. Let's see... well, I'm kind of a workaholic, so I have a tendency to take my -----

ALBERT

Don't tell me you take your work home with you. Something else.

CLARK

Okay, um, I guess I can be a little OCD---

ALBERT

And don't tell me you're a perfectionist. Heard it a million times. us give me one sincere negative about yourself.

CLARK

Hmm.....

(Searching) Alrigh, at some of my past jobs I would sit in the bathroom stall for a while to kill some time.

Beat.

ALBERT

Oookaaay ..... didn't expect that.

Certainly not helping your chances here.

CLARK

(backpedaling) But I always got my work done firsthand I didn't mean a while. "" It was more like a couple of minutes. One time .I had stomach issues.

(Flustered)

I think I'm misrepresenting myself.

ALBERT

I'm effing with you clark. Calm it down.

CLARK

Oh. Well-played Albert. you got in my head there a little bit

ALBERT

You make it very easy (then). I think you'd be a pretty snug fit here a KJAMS, But I still have a few more candidates to interview. I will give you a call later either way.

CLARK

Sound great.

ALBERT

Don't get cocky.

CLARK

Right.

INT.KAMS SALES DEPT.-COITIONOUS

Clark exits the office with a giant smirk. The smirk suddenly fades into an expression of disappointment when he sees his identical twin brother, Taylor Mills, sitting on a couch in a sharp suit, holding his résumé. Taylor notices Clarks and is equally horried to see him. He stands.

CLARK

What are you doing here?

TAYLOR

I have an interview why are you here?

CLARK

I just had one .Milford set it up for me.

TAYLOR

Yeah, he did the same for me.